A major trail system now links the cities of Hamilton, Brantford and Cambridge. These 80 kms of trail form a major component in the southern Ontario loop of the Trans Canada Trail System.

In 1996, the Hamilton to Brantford Rail Trail was completed by the Hamilton & Grand River Conservation Authorities and became Canada’s first fully developed, entirely off-road interurban trail.

When opened in 1994 by the Grand River Conservation Authority, the Cambridge to Paris Rail Trail was one of the first abandoned rail lines to be converted for recreational trail use in southern Ontario.

In 1993, the City of Brantford commenced its Gordon Glaves Memorial Pathway along the scenic Grand River.

In October of 1998 these three trails were joined by the SC Johnson Trail, through the generosity of SC Johnson and Son Limited of Brantford, to form a continuous trail system suitable for both hiking and bicycle use.

The trails are provided free for public use, but the cost to acquire the land and build the four trails approached $1.5 million. The funds were provided by generous donations from the following corporations, individuals and like-minded foundations:

- Station Masters Honour Roll
- H.G. Bertram Foundation
- Cloverleaf Charitable Foundation
- CIBC (Halton/Wentworth District)
- Al & Mary Hales
- Gordon Cockshutt Foundation
- Kitchener and Waterloo Community Foundation
- Malloch Foundation
- Hamilton Naturalists Club
- Grand Valley Trails Association
- Bank of Nova Scotia
- Page Foundation
- Royal Bank of Canada Charitable Foundation
- Peter Etril Snyder Galleries
- Toronto Dominion Bank
- Union Gas
- many others who helped make the projects a success

If you would like to support continued upgrades and maintenance of our trails, tax deductible donations can be made to:

- The Grand River Conservation Foundation
- Conservation Foundation of the Hamilton Region
- Brant Waterways Foundation
- City of Hamilton

The trails are provided free for public use, but the cost to acquire the land and build the four trails approached $1.5 million. The funds were provided by generous donations from the following corporations, individuals and like-minded foundations:

- Station Masters Honour Roll
- H.G. Bertram Foundation
- Cloverleaf Charitable Foundation
- CIBC (Halton/Wentworth District)
- Al & Mary Hales
- Gordon Cockshutt Foundation
- Kitchener and Waterloo Community Foundation
- Malloch Foundation
- Hamilton Naturalists Club
- Grand Valley Trails Association
- Bank of Nova Scotia
- Page Foundation
- Royal Bank of Canada Charitable Foundation
- Peter Etril Snyder Galleries
- Toronto Dominion Bank
- Union Gas
- many others who helped make the projects a success

If you would like to support continued upgrades and maintenance of our trails, tax deductible donations can be made to:

- The Grand River Conservation Foundation
- Conservation Foundation of the Hamilton Region
- Brant Waterways Foundation
- City of Hamilton
The Hamilton-Brantford-Cambridge Linkage of Trails

The trails between Hamilton and Cambridge form the Grand River Conservation Trail. The trails are part of the Grand River Conservation Trail, which is a network of trails that connect the City of Hamilton, the City of Brantford, and the County of Brant.

Hamilton to Brantford Rail-Trail

The trail runs from Hamilton to Brantford, passing through the City of Hamilton and the County of Brant. The trail is open to pedestrians and bicyclists, and it is accessible to people with disabilities. The trail offers beautiful views of the Grand River and the surrounding countryside.

How The Trails Came To Be

The trails were developed over a period of time, with the support of local governments and community organizations.

Come and Explore The Hamilton to Cambridge Trails

The trails are designed for both pedestrians and bicyclists, and they are suitable for people of all ages and abilities. The trails offer a variety of different experiences, from easy walks to challenging rides.

Cambridge to Paris Rail-Trail

The trail runs from Cambridge to Paris, passing through the City of Cambridge and the County of Brant. The trail is open to pedestrians and bicyclists, and it is accessible to people with disabilities. The trail offers beautiful views of the Grand River and the surrounding countryside.

While On The Trails

The trails are well-marked with signs, and they are suitable for people of all ages and abilities. The trails offer beautiful views of the Grand River and the surrounding countryside.

To report vandalism, unauthorized use or trail maintenance concerns, contact:
Cambridge to Paris Rail-Trail: Grand River Conservation Authority (519) 621-2761

The Hamilton-Brantford-Cambridge Linkage of Trails

The trails between Hamilton and Cambridge form the Grand River Conservation Trail. The trails are part of the Grand River Conservation Trail, which is a network of trails that connect the City of Hamilton, the City of Brantford, and the County of Brant.

Hamilton to Brantford Rail-Trail

The trail runs from Hamilton to Brantford, passing through the City of Hamilton and the County of Brant. The trail is open to pedestrians and bicyclists, and it is accessible to people with disabilities. The trail offers beautiful views of the Grand River and the surrounding countryside.

How The Trails Came To Be

The trails were developed over a period of time, with the support of local governments and community organizations.

Come and Explore The Hamilton to Cambridge Trails

The trails are designed for both pedestrians and bicyclists, and they are suitable for people of all ages and abilities. The trails offer a variety of different experiences, from easy walks to challenging rides.

Cambridge to Paris Rail-Trail

The trail runs from Cambridge to Paris, passing through the City of Cambridge and the County of Brant. The trail is open to pedestrians and bicyclists, and it is accessible to people with disabilities. The trail offers beautiful views of the Grand River and the surrounding countryside.

While On The Trails

The trails are well-marked with signs, and they are suitable for people of all ages and abilities. The trails offer beautiful views of the Grand River and the surrounding countryside.

To report vandalism, unauthorized use or trail maintenance concerns, contact:
Cambridge to Paris Rail-Trail: Grand River Conservation Authority (519) 621-2761

The Hamilton-Brantford-Cambridge Linkage of Trails

The trails between Hamilton and Cambridge form the Grand River Conservation Trail. The trails are part of the Grand River Conservation Trail, which is a network of trails that connect the City of Hamilton, the City of Brantford, and the County of Brant.

Hamilton to Brantford Rail-Trail

The trail runs from Hamilton to Brantford, passing through the City of Hamilton and the County of Brant. The trail is open to pedestrians and bicyclists, and it is accessible to people with disabilities. The trail offers beautiful views of the Grand River and the surrounding countryside.

How The Trails Came To Be

The trails were developed over a period of time, with the support of local governments and community organizations.

Come and Explore The Hamilton to Cambridge Trails

The trails are designed for both pedestrians and bicyclists, and they are suitable for people of all ages and abilities. The trails offer a variety of different experiences, from easy walks to challenging rides.

Cambridge to Paris Rail-Trail

The trail runs from Cambridge to Paris, passing through the City of Cambridge and the County of Brant. The trail is open to pedestrians and bicyclists, and it is accessible to people with disabilities. The trail offers beautiful views of the Grand River and the surrounding countryside.

While On The Trails

The trails are well-marked with signs, and they are suitable for people of all ages and abilities. The trails offer beautiful views of the Grand River and the surrounding countryside.

To report vandalism, unauthorized use or trail maintenance concerns, contact:
Cambridge to Paris Rail-Trail: Grand River Conservation Authority (519) 621-2761